

Don't Suffer!

"I had been troubled, a little, for nearly 7 years," writes Mrs. L. Fincher, in a letter from Peavy, Ala., "but I was not taken down, until March, when I went to bed and had to have a doctor. He did all he could for me, but I got no better. I hurt all over, and I could not rest. At last, I tried Cardui, and soon I began to improve. Now I am in very good health, and able to do all my housework."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

You may wonder why Cardui is so successful, after other remedies have failed. The answer is that Cardui is successful, because it is composed of scientific ingredients, that act curatively on the womanly system. It is a medicine for women, and for women only. It builds, strengthens, and restores weak and ailing women, to health and happiness.

If you suffer like Mrs. Fincher did, take Cardui. It will surely do for you, what it did for her. At all druggists.

Foxes and Minks.

It is estimated that 1,500 foxes have been shot and trapped for their hides in Somerset county, Tenn., this season. The fur dealers claim that the foxes and minks have never been so plentiful. The fox skins have brought more money per skin than in several years back. It is estimated that the hunters have realized from fox skins alone in the county nearly $15,000. One man alone in the county caught in two days' time a black fox and a gray one that brought him a check for $2,500. This is getting to be one of the greatest industries and many farmers are making as much money hunting as they can earn on the farm during the rest of the season. Many earned enough money from catching foxes and skunks to pay the mortgages on their farm.—Farmers' Home Journal.

Wolves Attack Father.

A Russian peasant named Grusneijoff, accompanied by his wife and four-year-old child, was traveling by sleigh near Volchuni when attacked by a pack of wolves. The woman, in her terror suggested that he appease the famished beasts by flinging them the child. This, however, the man at first refused to do, urging his horses onward at top speed.

At length the wolves gained the sleigh and Grusneijoff flung the child into the road. His sacrifice was in vain, for the wolves, disregarding the living bundle, flew to the attack with renewed fury and at length dragged the peasant out. When the horses arrived in town the woman was found lying unconscious in the sleigh. The child, who had not suffered the slightest injury, was found lying peacefully sleeping on the road. The man had been killed and almost devoured.

Rioters Shot down.

Two men were seriously wounded, seven others shot and 15 less seriously hurt in street battles when policeman in Syracuse, N. Y., sought to force workmen from the front of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, in the heart of the city. Some of the number were fatally injured, while most of the others suffered only slight wounds. Nine policemen were cut and beaten in the fight which occurred throughout the city before Cesare Scofetti, Italian consul at Rochester, arrived in Syracuse and called upon the foreigners to desist from violence.

The strike started last week when 2,500 laborers and hod-carriers demanded an increase in wages. Their demands were rejected. The strikers, mostly foreigners, paraded the streets and caused trouble until the police were sent against them.

In the first encounter the policemen were treated to a shower of bricks and stones. They fired into the air to frighten the men. Then they fired among the strikers and many fell. After the first encounter they were ordered to shoot to kill if they were compelled to shoot at all.

Consul Scofetti hopes to bring about a settlement by arbitration. State troops were ordered to Syracuse, but arrived after the consul and had nothing to do.

Defies Divorce.

When the court at Warran, O., gave Orrin D. Hahn, a divorce, his wife refused to abide by the judge's decision.

She sobbed out her story when brought before Probate Judge Anderson for contempt of court. It was a story of their belief in the sanctity of marriage vows, despite hardships, poverty and nearly starvation. Court officers regard her tale of her pitiful existence and the patience with which she bore her lot as a living rebuke to the divorce laws.

Hahn married her from a luxurious home and parents who lavished on her all that wealth could buy. Against their will she became the bride of Hahn, who soon tired of her and for several years has been trying to rid himself of her. Finally her husband divorced her, but she refused to leave him.

The sheriff found Mrs. Hahn in a shack with Hahn, a boy of 17 and a girl of 15. The roof was made of tin cans. There was nothing in the shanty but a bed, a stand and a stove. Little food was in the place.

COUNTRY CHILD'S DAY NOW IS HERE

Parents and Teachers Prepare For Newer Life.

ERECT MODERN SCHOOLS.

Up to Date Building and Equipment Mean Added Interest to Both Teachers and Scholars in Educational Matters—A Model School Near Louisville With Domestic Science Room.

Wherever people are thinking definitely about the future they realize that the child is the greatest problem with which the state has to deal because it is the state's greatest asset. This is especially true in the rural districts, and both teachers and parents are getting ready for the newer life that promises to develop within the next twenty-five years or sooner.

Four miles out of Louisville on one of the main turnpikes, where for years the people had been thoroughly satisfied with a poor schoolhouse and a poorer playground, a new building has gone up. This building was made possible by the district levying a special fifteen cent tax for two years and securing the help of the county board of education. When the public began to understand what was taking place it rallied to the support of the new school. This was made very plain when the Southern Brick and Tile company, which had a large plant in the neighborhood, added an extra acre of ground to the acre already secured by the trustee for the district.

The moment one enters the beautiful brick building with its soft green roof that harmonizes with the surroundings it is evident that it is an up to date school with a modern school equipment, for a sanitary drinking fountain is the first thing that catches the eye. The building has two beautiful schoolrooms perfectly lighted and equipped with modern single desks. Two ample cloakrooms are immediately in front of the classrooms and open into the main hall, while at one end of the building there is a cozy rest room for teachers and pupils, with a light, pleasant little library. Both of the classrooms are arranged so that they may be turned into one huge room, while the teachers' platform can be joined and become a stage with the library and rest room as dressing rooms for the same. This simple device makes it possible to use the school for entertainments and as a perfect social center for the community.

Down in the big, airy basement is the modern heating plant, a gasoline engine and tank that supplies the water for the building. In this same basement there are two big rooms, one of which is equipped with twelve work benches for the manual training class. The other room of the basement is equipped to handle a class of eight girls in domestic science.

It might seem in looking over this school, with its perfect equipment and its splendid grounds, its huge cistern and its deep well, to furnish perfect drinking water for the children, as if the cost would have been excessive. Yet the whole equipment, including gasoline engine, domestic science outfit, manual training benches and tools cost only $5,750.

There is one final point that should be touched and touched upon definitely, and that is the effect of this building and equipment upon the two teachers. Last season when they realized that this dream was to come true they both went to a summer school, one taking a summer course in domestic science, the other in manual training.

Two Men Discuss the Present Schoolbook Law.

BOTH AGREE IT IS UNJUST.

To Have the County Authorities Select the Children's Schoolbooks Often Means a Hardship For the Parents and a Loss of Valuable Time to the Pupil.

"Say, Bill, somebody told me the county is to select the children's schoolbooks for next year."

"Yep, that's what the fellows round the courthouse say. It's a new law again."

"No; I reckon they've gone back to the one we had a good while ago. Well, all I can say is I'm mighty sorry."

"Why? Don't you think our folks can select good schoolbooks?"

"Course they can, but that ain't the point I'm drivin' at. Look here, you're leasin' a farm same as I am, ain't you?"

"Well, suppose you buy your boy an' girl a set of books for school next fall, an' then 'bout the Christmas holidays you go over into the Big Bull Skin neighborhood just across the county line."

"By George, I hadn't thought about that side of the question!"

"Course you didn't, 'cause your kids are just little fellers, an' they ain't been to school long. But you wait until you have a whole raft of 'em, like I've got, an' then you'll understand what a big thing it can be. I remember mighty well one time when I moved from one county into another. The move wasn't more than five miles either, an' the new books I had to buy for my four children cost me $9."

"That's mighty tough, an' I don't wonder you're kickin' about it."

"If the cost of the books was all of it it wouldn't be so bad. I've got a heap bigger kick comin' than just the cost of the books."

"What is it?"

"What hurts me is that sometimes a child'll lose a lot of valuable time. There's my oldest boy. He's goin' on sixteen, an' he's through the eighth grade an' ready for the high school. He'd been through almost two years of high school work if he hadn't lost time changin' from one school to another."

The man was silent for a moment before he continued sadly: "The boy's big for his age, an' now he's goin' to work because he feels he is too big an' old to go through high school. The changin' round means that my boy won't take a high school education like he planned to. Just the other day I saw in a paper where the average pay for the man who had only gone through the eight grades was almost $400 less than that of the feller who had so a high school course. If that's so my boy'll stand to lose almost $8,000 in hard money in the next twenty years of his life. He'll lose enough through the changes in his school to buy him a first class farm."

The men were silent again for a few moments. At length one spoke up. "Kinder strange how all of us fellers talk an' plan how things ought to be run at Washington," he said. "We talk of who should be president an' all that. An' we won't take the trouble to try to straighten out a schoolbook law in Kentucky that means money out of our pockets every time we move an' money out of our children's pockets for the rest of their natural lives."

"Say, let's all agree to watch the schools just a little bit, an' let's get busy with our next legislature an' see if us fellers that stand between the plow handles an' feed folks can't have things fixed to suit our pocketbooks an' to make it better for our children."

The New Schoolbook Law.

A strong effort is expected to be made at the next session of the general assembly to amend the textbook law, possibly restoring the system of state selection. The present law provides that each county shall choose its own textbooks through a commission composed of a member of the county board, a member of the board of examiners and a county school principal. The old contract will expire next year, and as no selections have ever been made by county commissions those in favor of state selections are desirous of securing legislative action restoring it before the county commissions have a chance to act. Under the old state system the county judges, county superintendents and county attorneys voted on the textbooks and a majority ruled. Some form of legislation will be considered by the Kentucky Educational association at its meeting in Louisville, April 30; and probably a draft of the measure favored by a majority will be prepared for submission to the general assembly.—Editorial Pineville Sun.

Women Fight in Church.

Members of the congregation of the Methodist Church at Bradley Beach, N. J., are much upset by a fight between two women, members of the church, which occurred at the cost of a morning service. One of the women, who was said to be jealous of her husband's attention to the other, struck her in the face with her fist.

There was great excitement in the church, and those who saw the trouble said that the husband of the woman who was attacked made no effort to protect her. The husband of the woman who started the fight was said to have led her, struggling, from the church. The trustees have started an investigation of the affairs.

Health a Factor in Success.

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are sold by Paul Drug Co. Ad.

A Century of Peace.

The United States and Great Britain have been at peace nearly 100 years, and it is proposed to celebrate this centenary in a fighting manner. The two nations are inviting all the nations of Europe to join in ceremonies that will commemorate the achievement, for achievement it is, the two nations having submitted to arbitration many questions that a century ago would have become cause for war. It is gratifying that Great Britain is taking as deep interest in this matter as is the United States, for the influence on other nations of such co-operation cannot be without beneficial effect.

During 100 years of peace between the United States and Great Britain there have been many wars between other nations, indeed, both nations have engaged in wars with other countries, the United States with Mexico in 1848 and with Spain in 1897, while Great Britain's armies have invaded nations in Europe, Asia and Africa. Yet it is significant that the wars waged by both nations were in the interests of civilization and humanity, purposes amply justifying recourse to arms. Such fighting for humanity will but add to the gratification incident to peace between the two nations themselves.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

"My sister's husband had an attack of rheumatism in his arm," writes a well-known resident of Newton, Iowa. "I gave him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment which he applied to his arm and on the next morning the rheumatism was gone." For chronic muscular rheumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by Paul Drug Co. Ad.
